STEM CLUB NEWS

Samantha Bicking, a 2019 WDHS Graduate, recently spoke to the STEM CLUB about her academic and professional journey to become a physician. Samantha was grateful that WDHS provided a High School Option Program with RCSJ, which she used to start her study of psychology. After obtaining an associate degree in psychology from RCSJ, she decided to pursue her study of neuroscience as a Physical and Life Sciences Major at the University of Pennsylvania, which is an entirely online program.

Samantha spoke about her efforts to land a research internship at CHOP. Recently, she successfully interviewed for a program allowing her to shadow an emergency medicine physician at Pennsylvania Hospital. Samantha's current goal is to become a Pediatric Neurologist. We hope to hear from Samantha in the future.

DECA NEWS

Congratulations to our DECA members David Wright, Isaac Diallo, Andrew Eagle, and Nathan Bassett for being selected to compete in the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton High School Data Science Competition: Soccer Playoff Predictions!

The data they'll be working with closely resembles the same data that major sports teams use worldwide. This is a fantastic way for our members to develop data analysis and prediction skills through the lens of sports, all while having fun.

Good luck to our DECA team!
